You should try to bring as much of the following information and/or documentation that you can reasonably obtain before our initial meeting. Don't worry if you have not collected all of it. We will work together to gather what is needed after we meet in person.

- Anything that you believe is related to the accident, your vehicle, or your injuries or treatment
- The name, address, and telephone of your primary care physician
- A copy of your health insurance card
- The names, addresses, and phone numbers of all witnesses to the accident
- The name, address, and phone number of the person responsible for causing the accident, along with their driver's license number, insurance information (including company name and policy number) and their vehicle year, make, model and license plate number
- The name, address, phone number and claim number of your insurance company adjuster
- The name, address, phone number and claim number of the insurance company adjuster for the person responsible for causing the accident
- All correspondence and documents about the accident sent to you by anyone
- A copy of the law enforcement traffic collision report (or the card identifying the report number and the telephone number to obtain same) if a traffic collision report was prepared
- All discharge papers from any hospital or emergency room at which you received treatment for your injuries
- The name, address, and telephone number of every medical provider who has treated you for your injuries
- A copy of your current declarations page from your insurance company that was in force on the date of the accident
- The name, address, and telephone number of the location of your vehicle if it is at a repair shop
- A copy of the property damage estimate for your vehicle
- Digital photographs depicting the damage to your vehicle
- Digital photographs that show the area where the accident occurred
